Turkey on the Fire Magic Rotisserie

If you love a beautifully browned and juicy bird, there is truly nothing better than a rotisserie turkey cooked on a Fire Magic grill!

Maybe this is the year to mix it up and give your turkey the royal treatment on the Echelon or Aurora rotisserie.

Check out this video where Anna reviews the cooking technique step by step.

Good grilling!

Fire Magic in the Media

New Video Series with Anna Rossi and Steve Raichlen

As Fire Magic's chef and lifestyle expert, Anna Rossi understands the value in having the best cooking equipment at hand when creating simple - or even more complicated - meals.

Recently, Anna collaborated with Project Fire television host and Barbecue Bible author Steven Raichlen to prepare some East Coast specialties in her new outdoor kitchen just outside of Boston. They even made a grilled citrus fruit sangria cocktail. (A grilled cocktail?? Yes and it looks pretty refreshing!) Stay tuned - Anna and Steven will be sharing a series of new cooking videos with us, showing us their favorite Fire Magic features and benefits while inspiring the griller in all of us in the preparation of unique and interesting recipes.

Catch all the fun of the afternoon in the link below.

Which is better: Gas or Charcoal? While charcoal purists can argue with gas grill enthusiasts, there is no debate that the Aurora 830i fits the bill for charcoal AND gas grillers.

In this month's That's MY Grill!, this smart configuration packs a lot into a compact space, with the Aurora combo unit tucked into the striking cobalt blue HDPE island cabinetry, with loads of storage. A sink encourages frequent hand washing to eliminate the risk of cross contamination and the undercabinet lighting keeps the space light and bright. The builder of this great space is Smokey's Kitchens & Outdoor Living - they highly recommend and install vent hoods to keep areas safe and smoke free.

Thank you, @smokeysmiami, for your lovely submission in this month's edition of "That's MY Grill!"

Thank you and cheers to good health.
